Hello Children,

Hello!

I have really enjoyed seeing your photos and work this week. Despite the grey weather I can see you've all been trying really hard. We know that we are setting a lot of online work and it is there to keep you going. You don't need to do everything! If you are struggling to get through it all and your parents are trying to work too—just do what you can! Do little and often but remember you can always read a book and have your own adventure inside the pages—it's a great way to escape into a fantasy world!

At school this week the teachers have started to create a book exchange for you. As soon as it is finished I'll send more information to your parents.

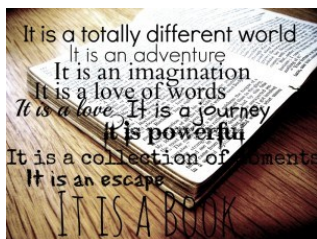

Joke of the week:

What do you call a dinosaur that is sleeping?

A dino-snore!

If you've got a good joke please email it to me!

Some online activities to enjoy!

9am PE with Joe Wicks

9.30am Wildlife with Steve Backshall

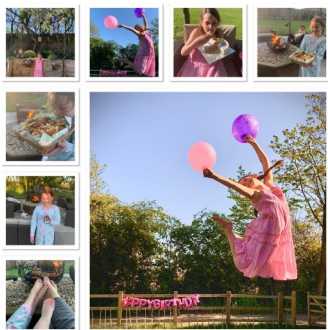

11am Science with Maddie Moate

11am Storytime with David Walliams

11.30am Dance with Oti Mabuse

Free access to Maths with Carol Vorderman

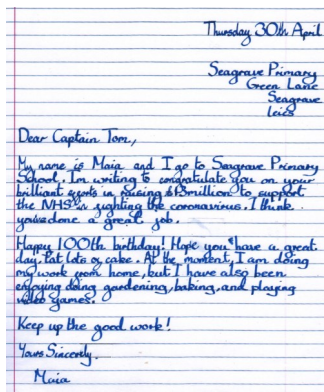

Obviously, you can not do all of these in one day! Mix it up a bit in between your school work :)

Happy Birthday

Faith!

If you've had a birthday send me a picture and I can add it to our newsletter.

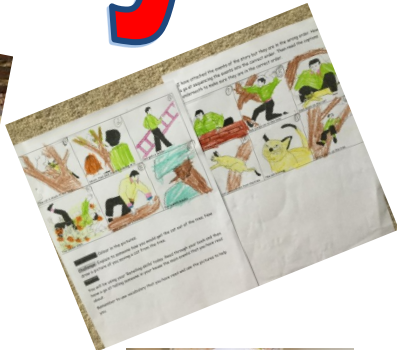

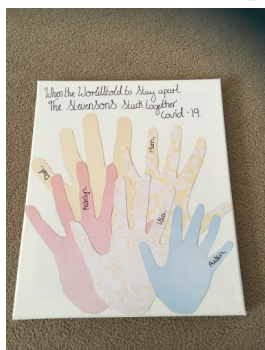

Happy 100th Birthday!

Class 3 have written some great letters to Hon. Colonel Tom this week.

Stay safe

The Girl Who Never Listened.

Hi I am Isabella. I never listened to my friends! But one day I decided to run away with no permission! I packed my back pack and hopped on my motorbike. I was so crazy about running away I went the wrong way. I wasn't allowed to go out at night and I got scared. I got dark and my friends closed on a blending into my skin.

I fell off my motorbike, I lost my kit remembering I had brought a first aid kit. So I put bandages on each one and rode on.

Suddenly I heard Voices, it was...

Song of Seagrave

Smell of cut grass and hay on a Summer's day,
Eating fresh, ripe raspberries "Yum yum" I say,
Ancient grey church yard full of dusty gravestones,
Graceful, gliding barn owls swoop and munch dry mouse bones,
Rustling green leaves in the soft, warm winds,
Amazingly clear, I hear the pretty birds sing,
Very rough, brown bark covers the trees,
Every golden drop of sweet honey tastes delicious from the bees!

Seagrave Poem

Squelchy, brown mud fills my black boots,
Elderberries and fat, red raspberries twinkle in my tummy,
Aeroplane flying swiftly across the bright blue sky,
Green fields full of snorting, beady-eyed pigs,
Racing water flowing through the stream,
Amazing wild birds singing songs in the rustling trees,
Village is so small and friendly,
Eggs from the farm, freshly laid by the fat chickens.

Suspense Story

The golden, bright, shiny sun sparkled on the neon stained glass windows. Softly, the beautiful, colourful and lovely primroses danced in the breeze. Quietly, I sat down on the ancient, wooden, brown bench thinking how calm, peaceful and sunny it was today. I saw the old, cracked, dusty gravestones were covered in pretty, delicate and silver cobwebs full of tiny spiders. The ink, velvet bats with ruby eyes stood on the stone church. From Buttery, cream, yellow daffodils grew inbetween the gravestones.

As I was standing picked the wild flowers for my lovely mum, But then ink velvet bats swooped down and I saw those ruby red eyes. Loudly, I heard the deep growls as the dark clouds covered the sun. Lightning flicked. Next, the lightning was hitting the creepy gravestones. Scared, I tried to jump over the gate but it was like a force field.

I can not come to the church school song time
 tonight though let's see dear uncle Isabel and Auntie who thank you so much for my skateboard I absolutely love it I practice on it at the village hall eat hall which is great as it is a big flat smooth area. When lockdown is over I would love it if you came over and watched me I would like to see my skateboard too.
 Belle likes riding it on her knees she goes really fast when I push her
 I hope you are ok and Luca is enjoying lots of cuddles.
 Love Sebastian xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
